Ignacia Cuevas and Sean Kong TAs were fine; discussion was mainly just going over answers to the Psets
Sean Kong, Ignacia Cuevas: The TAs were helpful during discussion
Ignacia and Sean; honestly they were fine and explained concepts when needed during the discussion sections, but during Ignacia's office hours, she was rarely helpful since she was restricted in what she could say if we had questions about the psets. This was frustrating because sometimes these questions were just basic clarification questions, so it just made psets more frustrating when some questions were vague and you couldn't clarify anything with the TAs. This may just be because of how strict the policy was for psets though.

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
Tintelnot was just a great lecturer and explained things so clearly. Drew a lot of good graphs.
lectures

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
Posting problem set solutions.
I would explain the expectations for the empirical project more clearly so that people know how much work is expected, it would also be helpful to have detailed pset solutions posted Can't think of anything, great prof.
i really don't understand why there are zero practice tests or problems or any discussions about the expectaitons for midterms/finals. we had no idea what we're supposed to study

Had discussion sections where they went over homework which I went to a couple times. I didn't really go to office hours but when I did ask Sean and Ignacia a couple questions, they were good at answering.
I think the TAs didn't provide a lot of material to help, but they were very nice

What aspects of the instructor's teaching contributed most and least to your learning?

Comments
Good choice of topics to cover touching on more niche areas of the trade literature which might be neglected otherwise. Course organisation could be improved.
Felix is obviously a great researcher, very knowledgeable about the topics he taught.
Prof. Tintelnot's clear explanation on the theories, and his own critiques really help me gain deeper understanding of the materia.

Please suggest any changes that could improve this course (e.g., class material, class structure, assignments, inclusive pedagogy).

Comments
Better access to the slides, and more use of class discussion to generate greater engagement. Greater focus given to the homeworks, e.g. there was no guidance on how the HWs were weighted in the final grade.
I think slides should be posted before the class. I appreciated that he changed the requirements for the class from problem sets to an empirical project and a research proposal.
Each class could cover many different papers, but as students we have limited time in reading through the papers thoroughly. I suggest that before each class/each week each student could be assigned (or via other organization means) a paper such that that student could in some ways lead question-asking for that paper in class. I find that discussion around question to be the most effective method in helping me getting the right understanding.

Please comment on how respected, valued, and included you felt as a participant in the course.

Comments
Felt respected and professor was open and approachable.

Comments
Xianglong; TA was good, though the scheduled discussion section didn't seem to occur when I went the first few weeks.
Xianglong Kong: very good TA, always ready to make sharp comments in class!
Xianglong Kong. I found Xianglong extremely helpful in guiding me through the exercises in this course (referee report, empirical project, research proposal). I found our discussions extremely fruitful in not only helping me to finish these projects at higher quality, but also improving my research ideas.

Ignacia
Sean is being extremely helpful and having a really fast reply on Slack. His OH is pretty helpful. Similar to Ignacia, as she is also pretty nice and reply fast.
Ignacia and Sean
Both Ignacia Cuevas and Xianglong (Sean) Kong were very approachable and easygoing people who were helpful over Slack. In addition, they were very reasonable graders who rewarded honest answers and did not take off unreasonable amounts of points.
Sean and Ignacia. Both were great, ran good discussions. The only thing that could have been improved would be releasing problem set answers and midterms solutions for aid in studying.
Ignacia and Sean were the teaching assistants for the class. They offered weekly discussion sessions and were fair graders.

Comments
We dedicated one class to presenting empirical projects. I found that the professor usually did a better job explaining trade concepts; however, I think this could be fixed if he made more comments about the empirical projects and the economic intuition behind them.

Both Hugo and Sean were great
TA sessions are not very helpful
They were fine. Leo's comments in the zoom were excellent.
Xianglong Kong and Hugo Lopez: They explained the concepts clearly and helped a lot with respect to homework and learning in general
Sean Kong, Hugo Lopez, Leo Rafael Aparisi de Lannoy, all very helpful
Hugo and Sean, they were both great
Hugo Lopez – Hugo was very helpful with one on one questions during and after TA sessions. It would be helpful if he provided more specific feedback as to why he was deducting points when grading exams/problem sets.
Hugo was extremely helpful and knowledgeable during OH. You could tell he has a very good command on the material and is passionate about teaching it. The TA sessions were efficiently run and productive.
Hugo. Cared about the class and clearly put the effort to be a good TA.
Hugo and Sean, they improved when they worked through the problems instead of just scrolling through a pdf. Still could have worked through problems more completely during ta sessions.
TAs: Leo, Hugo, and Sean.
They were great.
